Dear Eleanor - Well, it looks as though this is just about the last place left in the book, but I write small, so here goes. I could, I suppose, write on for pages, but you know that old line. I do want you to know I think you're a wonderful girl with beauty, personality, and brains. I hope to see you a lot this summer - good luck, old girl

Ajax

Dear Eleanor,

Here's the last page. It looks like this time-thing is going to be a success. Thanks for the letter. I'm glad you're coming East this summer. I'll be up to see you as often as I can get away. I'm sure we can arrange a few dates. Of course I have to work this summer, but I'll have my evenings free. I'm looking forward to seeing you again very much indeed.

Yours sincerely,

Phyllis

P.S. Why don't you write to Jeremy Hutchinson? He's very fond of you.

Dear Eleanor:
Hee! I've loved knowing you. You're so darn much fun and cute
plenty sweet too. Good luck

Hi ya Eleanor ole gal — you're really a swell gal and I really have enjoyed knowing you, ever since you sat in front of me in sophomore history.
Guy H.

Eleanor,
Here's wishing you loads of luck and success 'cause a swell girl like you really deserves the best of everything.
On the square you're swell.
Marvin Gunn

Dear Eleanor,
I think you're just darling and I hope you have lots of fun with you know who. Remember the fun we had the night of the banquet and best of luck to yo

Hi, Miss Place-!

In spite of Central and Horace Mann together, it seems that we'll both be wearin' those lil' ol' caps & gowns next week-! You're a strictly swell gal, and I've enjoyed every minute of our friendship-! All the luck in the world to a gal who really deserves it -!

Remember,

Dear Eleanor,
Honey, you're going to miss those hilarious high-jinks classes. All remember that session when we had those cute little chairs, but we were too big for them. Remember the time we had to sit on the floor? Remember the time we had to sit on the floor? Remember the time we had to sit on the floor?

Dear Eleanor
Best of luck to a gal who has the cutest
Indiana - a swell girl who is going places
Keep up the good work and stay as cute
as you are

DEDICATION

WORLD WAR II is now legally over. Open hostilities have ceased, but a greater task remains, that of preparing the world for a warless future. Because education is the hope of the world and because teachers must prepare youth to assume the burdens of the most precarious times in the history of mankind, we of the TOM TOM staff recognize the responsibility of faculty members at Central and throughout the nation. It is with faith, hope, and humility that we dedicate this year's TOM TOM to the faculty at Central High School.

Dear Eleanor—

Being with you these past years has been the best possible— My only regret is that I didn't know you earlier— The times we've had together will always live in my memory as some of the best of my life— The best of everything to you in the future, Mac, you really deserve it—

Richard Rorschach

The Teacher

The thrill of seeing the procession go by,
The privilege of being one with youth;
Sensing their problems,
Sharing their sorrows,
Seeing their joy,—
Could any labor
Be more richly requited?

From Teachers Are People
by VIRGINIA CHURCH

Dear Eleanor—

Well, I finally got around to signing (whew) it, and now I can't think of any thing to say to express the wish that you have all the happiness and luck in the world in all that you undertake.

Buddy Hurley

Foreword

MAN, THROUGH countless centuries and forgotten civilizations, has looked to the stars for beauty, for spiritual inspiration, and for guidance. Yesterday man had faith in the stars and discovered a new world. Today man has the opportunity for a peace so strong and enduring that it will last forever. Burning stars as symbolized in the exploding atom challenge us to the fulfillment of a great destiny. Synonymous with the glistening hopes and dreams of a reborn civilization must be the realization that ours is the responsibility of insuring, through firm faith and unerring judgment, a lasting humanitarian peace. Because we know the stars will always remain undimmed, because we know they will always inspire mankind, we have chosen for the theme of the 1946 TOM TOM,

Beyond these calm walls are humming lathes, quiet drafting boards, and other equipment with which boys and girls learn manual dexterity.

Central students stop for that last minute chat before starting homeward.

The southeast corner of our massive building with its towers and white marble trim stands clear in the October morning sunshine.

School's out, and students gather on the northwest steps.

The stands are packed for a football game at Tulsa Stadium, property of the Board of Education.

Hi honey! I not only want to see you this summer but I shall take steps about the matter, so stay by the telephone. I'll call about June 15 if Im not in the ---- Army which I don't think I will. So ——! Our eyes have met, Our lips not yet, But oh! you Kid. I'll get you Yet. An How —— I think I'll let some one else use this Page, but before I do I want to say you are the Cutest and most loveable gal I've met this year. Best of Luck and Happeness for all your future years and I'll See You soon. As always Mac Ewen Love ya!

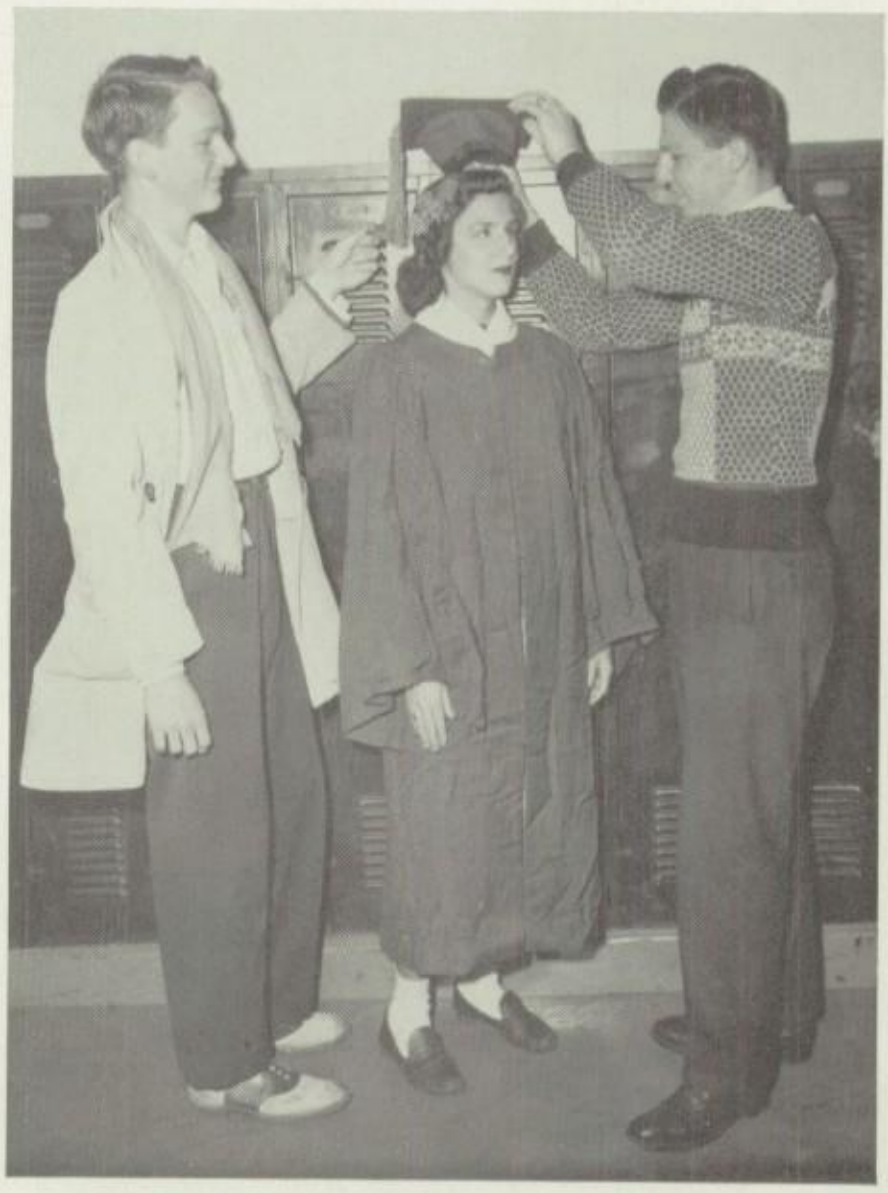
Senior Class of 1946

LOOKING to the stars for its goal the senior class of 1946 began its journey through Central with Miss Gertrude Rector as sophomore class adviser and Fred Berry as president. The class play, "And Came the Spring," was the outstanding landmark of the year.

As juniors the class, working steadily but with eyes high, participated in all of Central's extra-curricular activities. Here they learned to know and admire Miss Lulu B. Beckington, adviser for the junior and senior years. Charles Dowell was junior class president. "Junior Miss," the class play, added a success marker along the trail.

Ritz Week, the Daze, the class play, "Jane Eyre," KVOO Day, the annual Christmas assembly were outstanding achievements of a busy senior year. On the last lap of the journey, Millard Gelvin, president, and Miss Beckington, adviser, added encouragement and advice. As a reward for excellent work in selling tickets for the class play, the senior breakfast, a war casualty, was again held. This graduating class is more fortunate than those of the past few years because many boys who left school for military service have returned to Central to continue their studies. Indeed, these seniors are wise to look to the stars for guidance and inspiration in performance of their obligation to the future of America.



The last phase of senior activities — Shirley Hilmer models a senior cap and gown (just out of mothballs) with the aid of Bobby Crews and Richard Rorschach.

Students in junior class assembly listen intently to a discussion of a subject close to their hearts, the 1947 class rings.

Junior Class of 1946

MIXING fun and hard work, the junior class has crossed off another year at Central. As they have progressed through the year, many memorable events, both curricular and extra-curricular, have enriched their mental horizons.

What junior does not recognize Shakespeare's intriguing play, Macbeth, or the romantic and beautiful poems of Robert Burns and William Wordsworth? Of course no junior could forget the hours of industrious work on the history units and the term theme.

The juniors who blew out the ends of test tubes trying to improve the atom bomb, and who finally passed the valence test after "burning the midnight oil," may possibly be the scientists of tomorrow. Pythagoras probably never realized the hard work his famous theorem would cause so many juniors who took algebra and geometry.

It was not unusual to see some junior struggling over a Latin declension or the conjugation of a Spanish verb. Many who took a commerce course can tell about the time they spent in increasing their typing speed and in improving their shorthand.

Louise Larkin and Pat Hendrickson, who brought in the most "pennies" for the junior class play, pose with the sign.

No junior course would be complete without physical education and home living. The sportsmanship and etiquette acquired in these classes will always be valuable.

Juniors have participated in various activities outside of classwork, such as the Daze, opera, and their class play, "Don't Take My Penny." They have been leaders in school organizations and have made outstanding achievements in athletic and scholastic contests.

With the aid of their class director, Miss Ednamay Weeks, and their class officers, the juniors have completed another successful year and are looking forward to next year's activities and the chance to make their senior class the best ever.

Sophomore Class

THIS year under the dynamic guidance of the cabinet, headed by Floyd Murphy, and of the class adviser, Miss Gertrude Rector, the sophomore class has proved its ability to carry out school activities. Sophomores started off the year with the election of their officers; then chose three beautiful attendants to the queen, Ann Dowell, Sue Talbot, Juana Ingram, to represent them in the coronation assembly; and successfully presented their class play, "Daddy Long-legs," starring Emily Catlin and Walter Taylor. Their participation in school drives has helped in reaching the goals sought by Central.

These sophomores gather around a window at the school bank to reserve the best seats for the class play.

The sophomores' curriculum is varied and interesting. Everyone takes English and reads such favorites as American Short Stories, The House of the Seven Gables, and Meet an American. Electives include Latin, Spanish, geometry, and other subjects which the students find helpful. Sophomores complete many of the requirements for graduation during this year. Under Miss Rector's guidance they plan their schedules to include the courses that will prepare them for college or for work after leaving high school. Besides acquiring scholastic knowledge they learn cooperation with fellow students and teachers, valuable preparation for future living. The sophomore year is an important one because it is here that the basis for later life is laid.

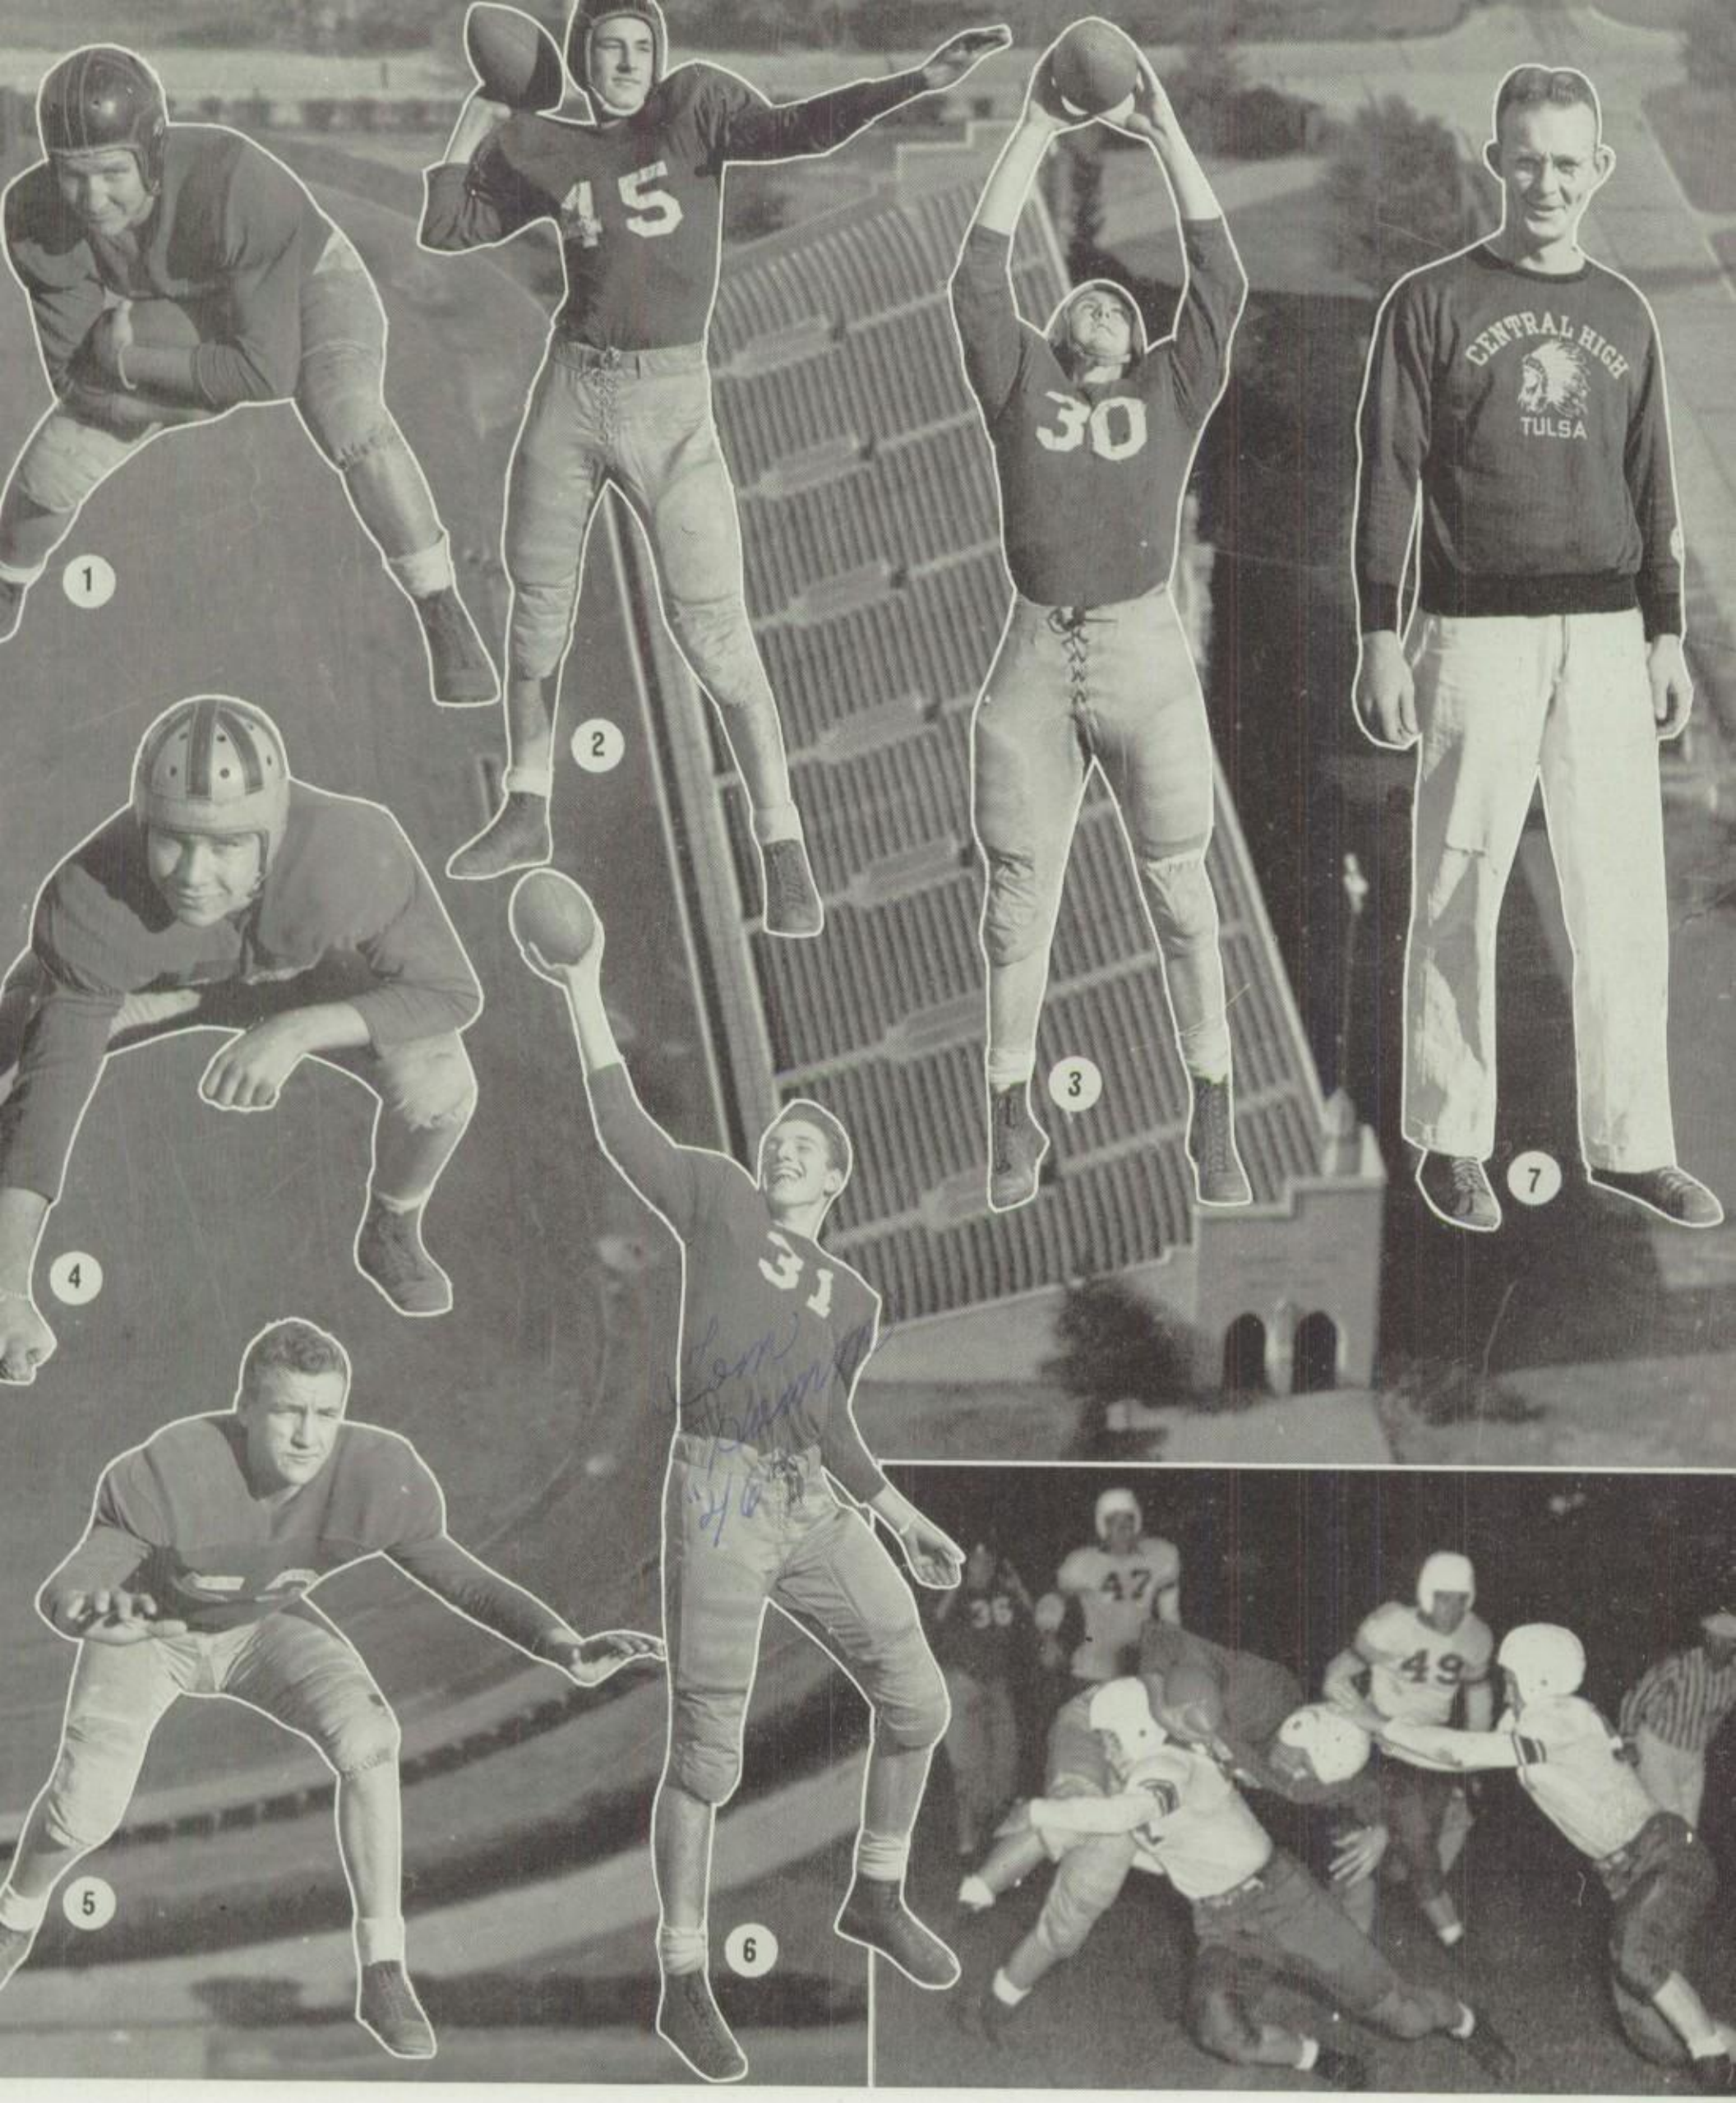
ROGERS AND MUSKOGEE

The Braves played their first game with the Rogers Ropers. Probably no one was more surprised than the Ropers when they chalked up a victory over the Braves with a score of 19-0. The Central line was powerful, but was unable to stop the fast backfield of the Ropers. Central came forward, however, when she marched to her fifth straight victory in a game with the Muskogee Roughers. The Roughers were no easy mark; and the game, which we won with a score of 13-0, was hard fought to the end.



OKLAHOMA CITY CENTRAL

The Central line was an important factor in the Oklahoma City Central game and paved the way for the potent backfield. Still keeping up their record, the Braves won over the Oklahoma City Central Cardinals with a score of 13-6. The two teams played on even terms for the greater part of the game, with the Braves taking a 6-0 lead at the end of the first period. The Tulsans struck again in the third period with another touchdown to their credit. The Cardinals made their score in the last quarter after intercepting a Tulsa pass on the Braves' twenty-six yard line.

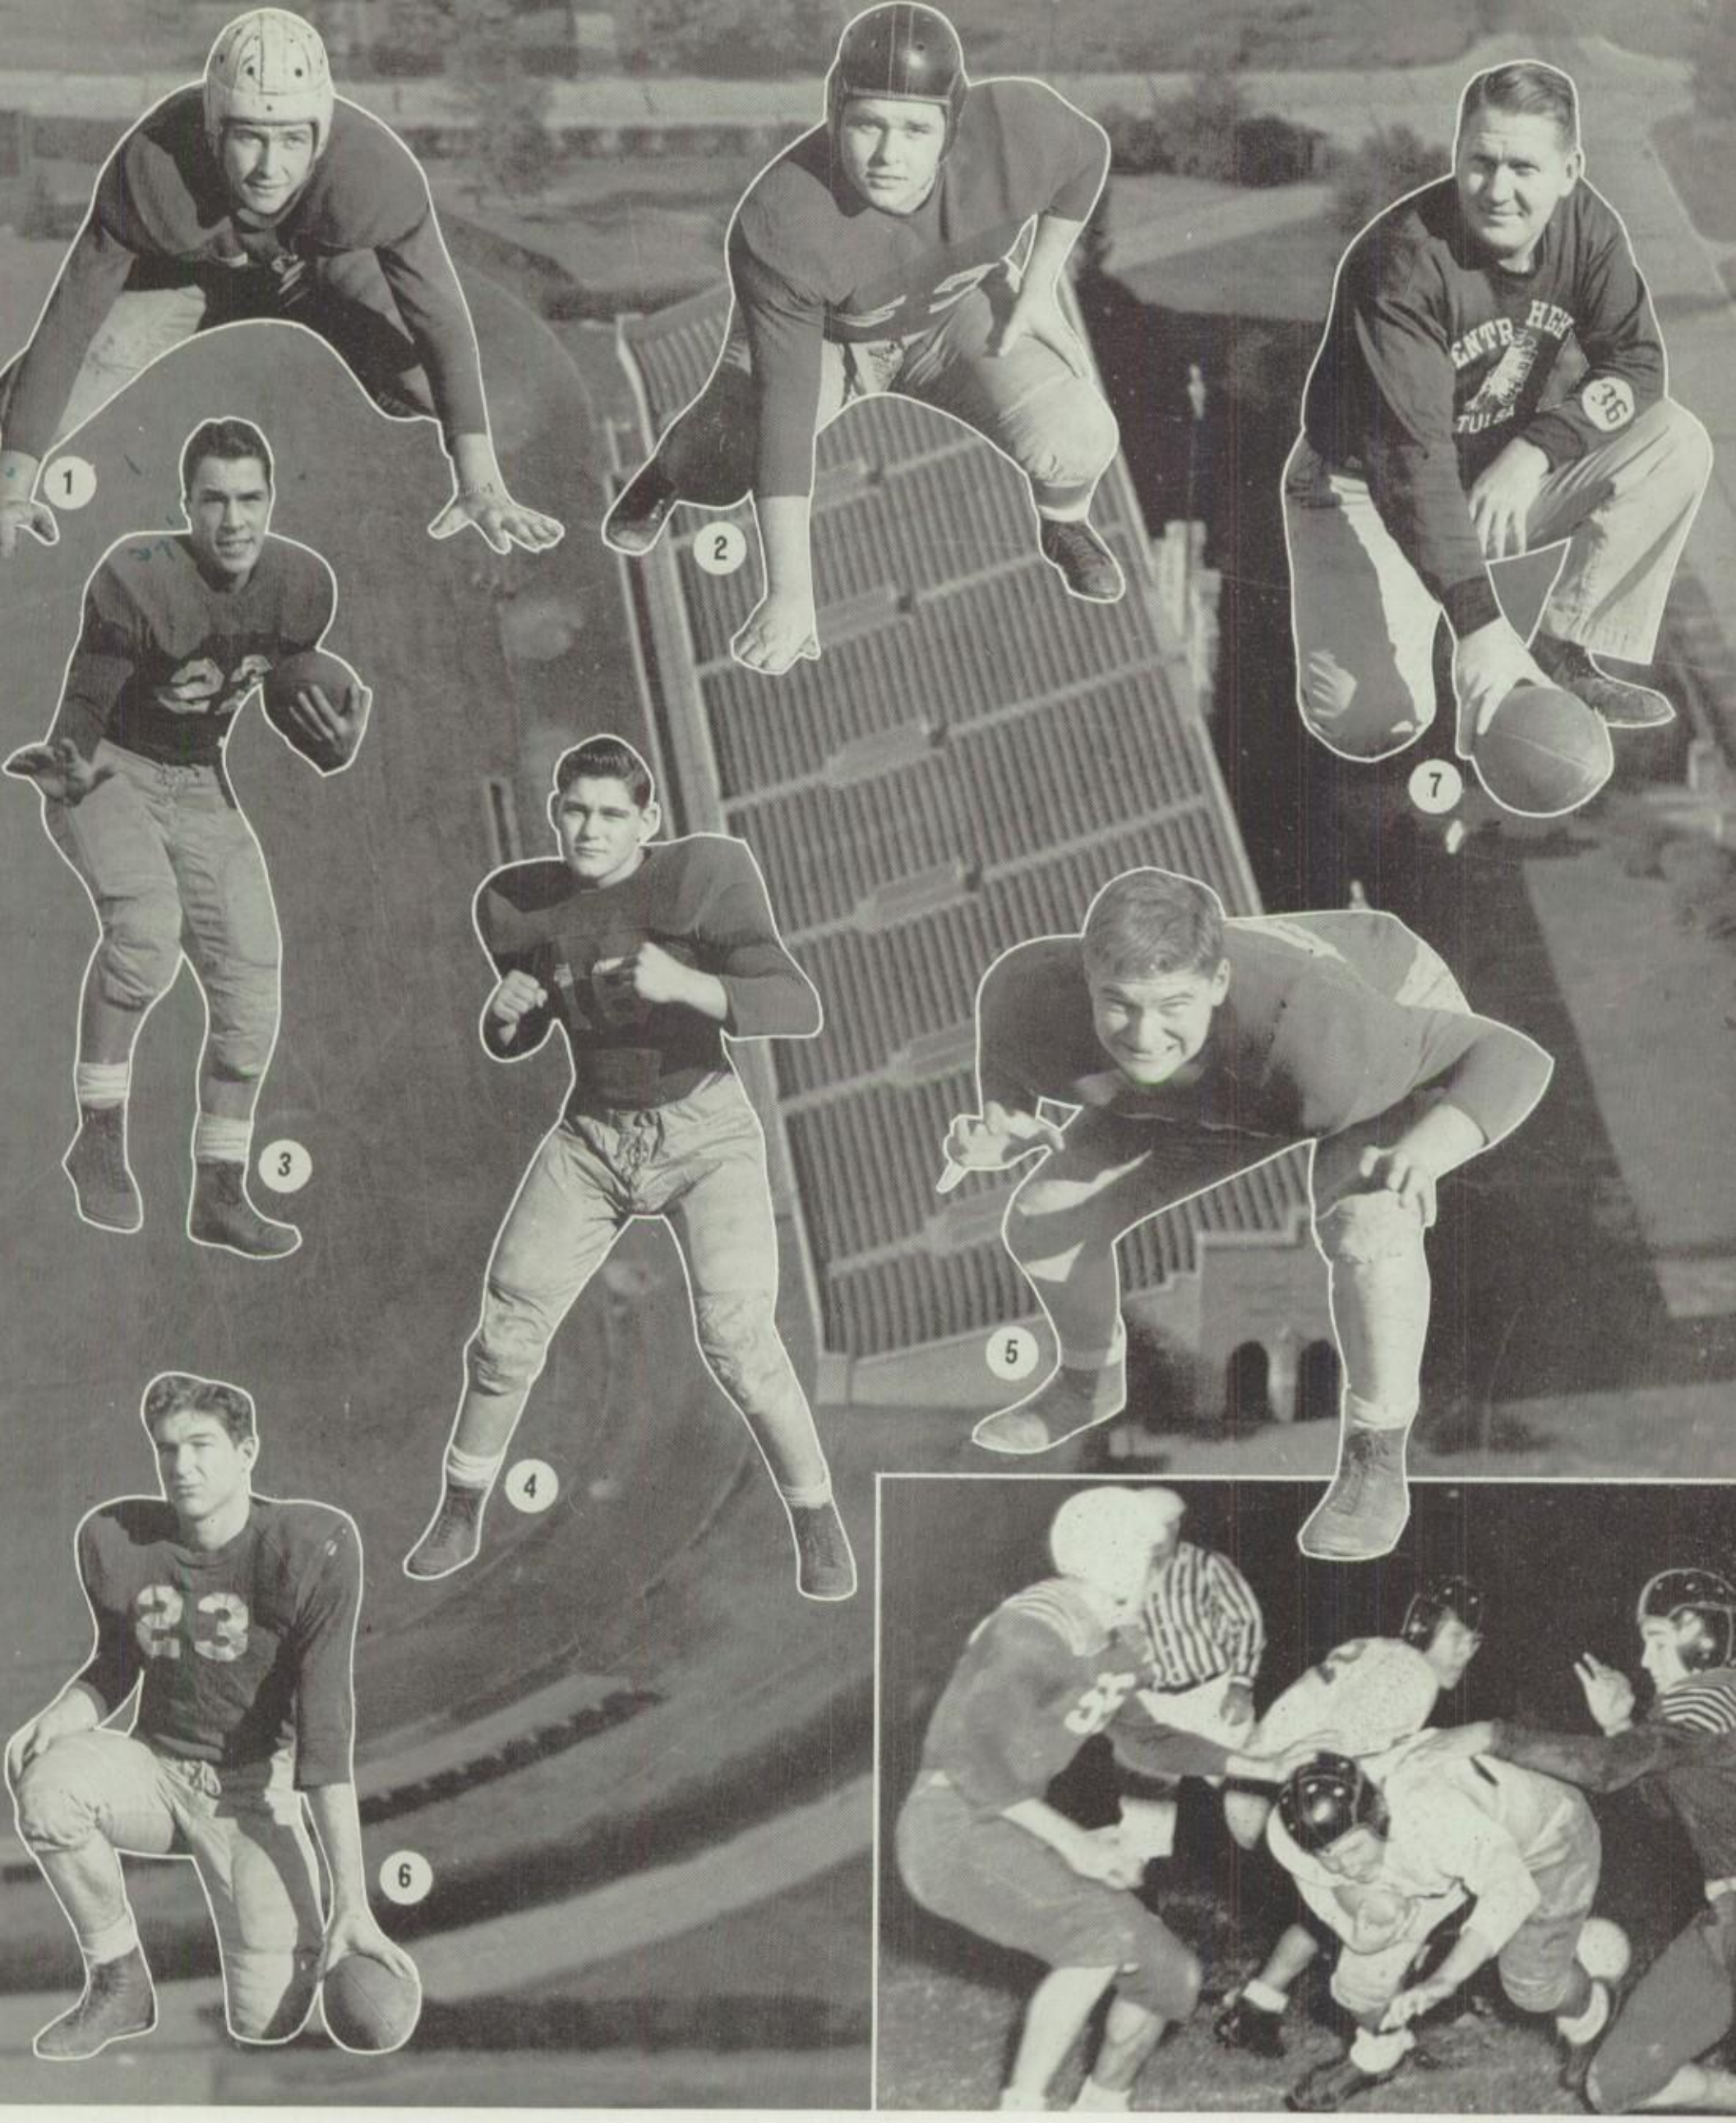
THE FOOTBALL SEASON

Another season of football was successful for the Tulsa Central Braves in 1945. Men responsible for guiding the team were head coach, Melvin E. Riggs; backfield coach, Walter E. Barham; line coach, Rex A. Peery, and sophomore team coach, Malcolm Orr. Honorary captain of this year's team was Charles Dowell, and returning lettermen were Charles Dowell, Jack Larrabee, Joe Whitaker, Bill Smith, Tom Hamm, and Clyde Jones.



THE FOOTBALL SEASON

With only one defeat to mar an otherwise perfect record, the Braves showed strength in the line, agil'ty in the backfield, and all around good sportsmanship and cooperation. The Braves had only 39 points scored against their 159. Although the game the Braves lost to the Rogers Ropers knocked them out of the Oklahoma Six Conference and the play-offs, their spirit remained unbroken throughout the season. Central finished its season with twenty-four lettermen to its credit.

Golf

Coach Melvin E. Riggs and his 1944-45 golf team finished the season with three out of five matches to their credit. In the first contest of the season, they bowed to a 16 to 9 defeat by Bartlesville, followed by a Stillwater victory of 7½ to Central's 4½. However, they finished the season in grand style, defeating Coffeyville 15 to 1, Webster, 16 to 0; and in a return game with Bartlesville, more than compensated for their earlier defeat by walking off with an 11½ to 4½ victory.

In the Conference Meet Central placed second, but in the State Meet, with the lowest score of any four-man team, Central placed first with Bob McCarthey taking honors.

Lettermen were Bob McCarthey, Gene Manley, Charles Geister, and Darrel Baker. Returning in 1945 to further their team's victories are Darrel Baker and Charles Geister.

Out to surpass the fine record preceding them, the 1944-45 Braves ended the year undefeated, with seven dual meets to their credit.

Under the competent leadership of coach Rex Peery and honorary captain Jerry Hallford, the Braves won first place in singles in the Oklahoma Six Conference.

Individual honors were won in the Invitational High School Tournament by Jack Wamsley, who won first place in singles, and Bill Hall and Paul Hurley, who won second place in the doubles.

Lettermen include Bill Hall, Jerry Hallford, Jack Wamsley, Paul Hurley, Jay Leib, and Alan Swain.

Wrestling

The 1945 wrestling team, under the direction of Coach Rex Peery and Coach Melvin E. Riggs, finished another scheduled season undefeated. After winning the city title the boys prepared to go to the state meet, which for the first time was held in Tulsa at Daniel Webster High School. The Braves, with only two returning lettermen, Gene McDonald and Arlie Curry, found the more experienced Blackwell team too much for them. The meet ended with Central's 30 points crowding Blackwell's 35. In the championship finals Central led in individuals with Arlie Curry placing first in the 112 pound class, Gene McDonald first in the 120 pound class, Sandy Jones first in the 138 pound class, and Jack Wamsley first in the 145 pound class.

Central won the first meet of the season over Perry, with a score of 34 to 0. In the following meets our team defeated in succession Ponca City, Webster, Rogers, Oklahoma City Central, Bristow, Rogers, Stillwater, and Webster.

The lettermen this season are Arlie Curry, Herkey Fowler, Sonny Gould, Joe Horkey, Sandy Jones, George Layman, John McCamey, Gene McDonald, Bob Moore, Dean Smith, Phil Smith, Byron Thomas, Frank Vann, and Jack Wamsley. The team elected Arlie Curry as honorary captain.

Cross Country

Returning this year to continue the victorious record maintained by Central's former cross country teams were lettermen Darrel Baker, Ray Burns, Carl Jacobsen, and R. C. Slocum. Coached by Mr. William Lantz this year's team was victorious in all meets in which it participated.

After weeks of diligent training, planned not only to give the team speed, but also to build up its endurance, Central's cross country team went to the City Meet at Webster and walked away with top score of 57, followed by Rogers with 48, and Webster with 15. Nine days later the boys went to the A. & M. State Meet and chalked up another victory, amassing 91 points, to Rogers' 74, and Webster's 42. In the final meet of the season they upheld their undefeated record by scoring 83 points. Rogers emerged second in this meet with 79 points followed by Webster, in third place, with 41 points.

Track

The 945 track team, under the experienced direction of Coach William Lantz, started the season with two lettermen, Bob Gregory and Charles Owen. Although the boys were victorious in only three out of the eight meets in which they participated, the fine spirit and sportsmanship which they displayed gave them a commendable record at the end of the season.

They lost their first meet of the season to Rogers by a score of sixty-seven to fifty-one. In the Shawnee invitational meet they reversed their luck and concluded the meet victoriously with thirty-six and one-half points, as compared to the twenty-four points of Rogers, and fifteen of Cushing.

The next five meets they lost to Rogers, but returned in the last meet to end the season with a decisive ninety-six and two-thirds to Webster's twenty-one and one-third.

Lettermen chosen at the end of the season were Ray Burns, Bob Dickson, Jim Finley, Carl Jacobsen, Charles Owen, Orvall Owen, R. C. Slocum, and Joe Whitaker. Returning to begin the 1946 season were Dickson and Jacobsen.

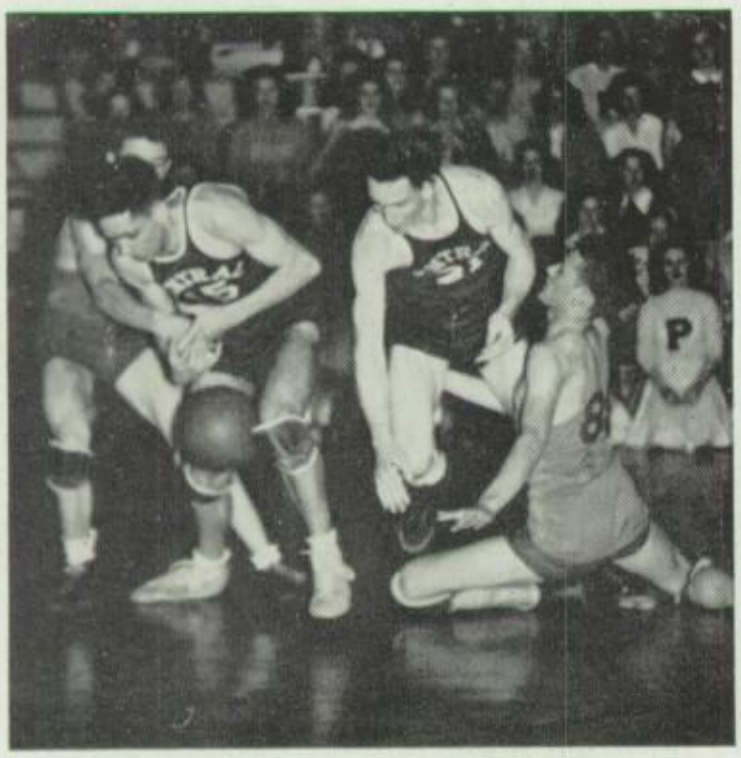
The Basketball Season

The 1946 basketball team ended another brilliant season with 19 victories out of 23 games to their credit. Coach Grady Skillern and his team made their way to the semi-finals in the state tournaments where the El Reno Indians, state champions, defeated them 28 to 25.



Dean Enterline carries the ball as Bob Miller gives him moral support in the Pryor game.

In the 23 games the Braves played before the end of the season they amassed a total of 877 points against the 587 points of their opponents. Glenn Dille and Bob Miller were selected to be on the All City Team, and Dean Enterline to be on the All State Basketball team.

Lettermen chosen for the season are Burrell Aldridge, Glenn Dille, Calvin Zongker, Bob Miller, Roy Gordon, Dean Enterline, Richard Rorschach, Charles Dowell, Marcus Arrington, Pat Barger, and Chuch Simpson. Co-captains of the team were Dean Enterline and Glenn Dille.

Girls' Physical Education at Central

DESPITE the difficulties of reduced athletic facilities and teaching personnel, the physical education department continues to keep the health and physical fitness of the high school girl as its prime objective. Her program is planned, not only for the present, but also for the future. The teamwork, the mental and physical alertness stressed here will prove invaluable in years to come.

An effort is made to offer a program of interest to all girls. In furtherance of this aim, archery and swimming are given as extra-curricular activities. The physical examination, which is given twice a year, is the basis of the program. No girl participates in active sports until she has had a heart examination and has had her picture made by the silhouettograph camera. If she is physically able, she then goes into one of the varied gym classes. These include square and folk dancing, hockey, and swimming for the sophomores; creative dancing and tennis for the juniors. Twenty girls who for various reasons are not able to participate actively in sports take individual gym, where particular attention is paid to the improvement of posture.

The application of this many-sided program of physical education will aid the high school girl of today in becoming the poised, intelligent, and efficient woman of tomorrow.

The Senate

The Senate, one of the two legislative bodies of Central, is composed of seventy-five senators, two from each organization and three elected from each class.

Every other Friday, Senate meeting is called to order by its president, Fred Berry. Johnnie Farmer is always on hand to take over in case Fred is absent. Barbara Lowe, recording secretary, reads the minutes, after which Virginia Daugherty, corresponding secretary, checks the roll and collects the tardy passes. When Courtland Moore has finished giving the treasurer's report, discussion of various subjects begins.

"See, this is the way it is," explains Fred Berry to Virginia Daugherty.

For the twenty-sixth year at Central the Senate has achieved success in almost everything it has undertaken. This year the members made an elaborate float to be used in the war bond drive parade, and even though it didn't appear in the parade on account of a broken clutch, still it was a beautiful float. This year, too, the Senate and House together sponsored a pep song contest to find a new song with original words and music by a Centralite.

Ten lucky Senate members found themselves on the way to Little Rock, Arkansas, for a convention, as did ten others who went to El Reno, Oklahoma; but the meeting which attracted the largest attendance from Tulsans was the all-city convention held right here in Tulsa on February 14 with Central as host school.

The senators of Central are proud to be elected to the organization and feel that they have gained a better understanding of government through their efforts.

The two senate secretaries, Virginia Daugherty and and Barbara Lowe, keep the records straight.

Courtland Moore, treasurer, has a little trouble obtaining money.

"Keep the school clean" is the motto of Jane Garrett, Bob Crews, and Barbara Lowe as they pick up papers in the hall.

Delegates, including Miss Lewis and Mr. Shepherd, sponsors, begin to gather for the trip to El Reno.

House of Representatives

The House of Representatives, composed of one representative from each home room, is one of the most democratic organizations at Central. Through this organization a fine, harmonious relationship has grown up between students and faculty, as every student has a chance to voice his opinions in the governing of the school.

Speaker Gene Anderson and Secretary Jean Coulter wait patiently while the House comes to order.

On alternate Fridays when the House meets, suggestions and complaints that have come up in the home rooms are voiced. If a member makes the suggestion under discussion into a motion and it is passed, it is then sent to the Senate as a recommendation. The Senate will either veto or pass the measure.

Realizing that this method of bicameralism which has served as Central's student government for many years is somewhat slow and inefficient, members of both houses have engaged in many heated debates about adopting the one-house governing body. In trying to solve this problem the House held joint meetings with the Senate to see the advantages and disadvantages of the unicameral system.

House of Representatives

Included in the various activities of the House this year was the joint sponsorship of the war bond and stamp campaign, the pep song contest, school dances after the basketball games, and the float in the victory parade. The spotlight this year was on conventions, and Central's student governing bodies were not only host to the inter-school convention, but also sent ten delegates to both the Southern Association of Student Government at Little Rock and the Oklahoma Student Governing Federation convention at El Reno.

Working along with its sponsor, Mr. Lawence Shepherd, to make this a successful year was the cabinet headed by Gene Anderson, speaker; Shirley Orman, speaker pro tempora; Jean Coulter, recording secretary; Betsy McCune, corresponding secretary; Bob Ragland, treasurer; and Edward Dumit, parliamentarian. The two inter-school council delegates were Betsy Evans and Mansel Cowan.

The experience and confidence gained in the give and take of legislative activity have helped every member to know democratic procedure in his school and to become a better citizen of the United States.

The speaker urges members of the House to put Central over the top in the sale of victory stamps and bonds.

Lois Enoch and Mary Carolyn Fasken display a poster designed to promote the fund for adopting a war orphan.

Girls' League

This year the Girls' League, sponsored by Mrs. Minnie May Summers, has been especially successful in its campaigns and drives. One of the most important was the adoption of a European child orphaned in World War II. From all the home rooms one hundred and eighty dollars was collected, which was enough to support him for one year. Then, too, the League has done its share in the Red Cross drives and campaigns.

The Girls' League was organized in 1935 by the girls of Central, and Nancy Trollinger was elected the first president with Mrs. Summers continuous sponsor since the organization was first formed. The assemblies are held twice monthly, once for the sophomores and once for the combined juniors and seniors. Meetings of the delegates, elected from each home room, are held every two weeks. These girls head all of the League's projects.

In the monthly assemblies prominent speakers give informative talks. One of the guests this year was Mrs. John H. Leavell, who told of her experiences in Cairo, Iran, Paris, Buenos Aires, and other interesting lands in the middle east. Talented students who belong to the League also appear before assemblies made up of the sophomore, junior, and senior girls. One assembly consisted of an original radio skit written by Patti Cecil, a student of Central.

Kathleen Burton, Senior Girls' League president, and Mrs. Summers, sponsor, discuss new projects to be undertaken by the girls of Central.

The audience of an all girls' assembly completely fills the south auditorium.

Tulsa School Life

Tulsa School Life is one of the most active organizations at Central. There is something to do every day, including Saturday morning. Staff members must write features, news, editorials, columns, and headlines with a deadline always approaching.

Bob Ragland performs his Thursday morning duty, distributing copies of SCHOOL LIFE. Homeroom representatives Bill Wadsworth and Bob Kuhn are receiving the papers.

Every week, every member of the staff covers his home room news beat, trying to get interesting items for the next issue. Ambitious reporters also interview such celebrities as Mr. Ralph Edwards of the radio, Madame Pandit of India, and Mr. Andre Michalopaulous of Greece.

After an article is written, members of the copy desk, including a champion speller, correct mistakes in punctuation and spelling. Then the copy is sent to the printshop.

On Saturday mornings, Elaine Cooper, Central editor-in-chief, and her assistant page editors meet with editors from Will Rogers and Webster high schools to plan page make-up.

On Thursday morning, there are many proud faces around School Life room when the members look over their finished product. But they cannot be idle very long, for they must start material for the next issue on its way to the print shop before school Friday morning. Journalism is an endless round!

Tom Tom Staff

The primary aim of the Tom Tom staff is to compile, organize, edit, and present a new and better school annual each year. This is no small task, and the work results not only in a Tom Tom worth keeping, but also in the students on the staff gaining much valuable first hand information about how to deal with people and how to write. They also find out a number of surprising facts about dear old Central that other students may miss.

Elected near the end of the first semester, the editor, Davene Paulsell; the assistant editor, Betty Zoe Wilhelm; and the business manager, Peggy Stem, have seen this year's Tom Tom to its finish.

School life and business activities go hand in hand for these busy buddies. The task is begun with the selection of a theme for the annual; then come the writing of the foreword and composing of the dedication. After that the real work begins—and goes on—and on. There are pictures—class pictures, group pictures, feature pictures, informal pictures —all to be scheduled, made, criticized, and perhaps retaken before they can be accepted. Each school organization must be visited, reviewed, understood, and written up in a manner to please all concerned. Someone occasionally asks members of the Tom Tom staff, "How do you do it?"

The only satisfactory answer they ever come up with is "T'isn't easy, chum."

The Tom Tom staff goes into a huddle over senior pictures.

Mr. Gates beats it out.

The orchestra's programs include a wide variety of compositions ranging from early classics to modern American compositions of the symphonic swing type. This year the orchestra has given numerous performances at plays, at assemblies, at the opera, and at the annual Handel's Christmas "Messiah." The annual spring concert, which was perhaps the most ambitious and inspiring performance of all, gave a vivid example of the orchestra's musical skill and talent.

Under the direction of Mr. Clarence F. Gates, the orchestra has won public recognition as being outstanding among school organizations.

The officers are president, Franz Engle; vice president, Bonnie Simpson; secretary, Glorene Fraser; treasurer, Patti Cecil; senior council representative, Barbara Gates; senior senator, Mary Lou Brite; and junior senator, John Rogers.

To become a member of the orchestra, the applicant must have an audition with Mr. Gates. Membership in the orchestra is accorded as a token of exceptional musical ability, and Mr. Gates decides whether or not the pupil's musical ability is of orchestra quality.

"Symphony" will be the result of this regular rehearsal.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

A Cappella Choir

With the return of Mr. Gerald Whitney from service in the armed forces in November, the A Cappella choir welcomed back its former director. Before his return the choir was directed by Mr. George Oscar Bowen, director of music in the Tulsa public schools.

A Cappella members gather around the piano for a little jam session before the program.

The A Cappella Choir is one of the vocal groups that adds greatly to the cultural life of the school. Singing in assemblies, at church and civic affairs, the choir members gain valuable experience in choral singing and obtain an appreciation of good music.

At Christmas time the A Cappella Choir gives added beauty to the season by walking through the halls of Central, singing the familiar carols, and by participating in the annual presentation of Handel's beloved oratorio, "The Messiah."

Throughout the year the choir, whenever it appears clad in the familiar maroon robes, lends a pleasing tone to the life of the school.

A Cappella Choir

Early in the school year the A Cappella Choir members elected the following officers to guide them: Bonnie Brown, president; Joe Ann Dixon and Charlie Parker, first and second vice presidents respectively; Marjorie Nordin, secretary-treasurer; Courtland Moore, senior senator; and Sandy Edwards and Wayne Ealey, librarians.

The term a cappella is applied to a musical group that sings without instrumental accompaniment. The choir spends many hours on each song in order to attain the close harmony so necessary to a cappella singing. The choir members work cheerfully, confident that they are acquiring skill both as individual singers, and as members of a closely harmonizing musical group.

This year the A Cappella Choir has greatly enriched the school and community by its splendid contributions to the musical life of the city, and the members may take pleasure in the knowledge of having reached new heights of musical achievement.

Claudia White, Mary Jo Hickory, and Alma Bennett add the finishing touches to their robes while waiting for the "on stage" call.

The Opera Club

Bruce Bollinger seems a little disgusted at Stanley Galloway's idea of a joke.

Fulfilling its traditional role in Central's musical program, the Opera Club presented its annual opera to appreciative audiences on two successive nights. Inspired by the return of its popular director, Mr. Gerald Whitney, who had been in the army for a year, the club produced the operetta, "My Maryland," which brought enthusiastic acclaim from students and friends alike.

Ably guided by Bob Hampton as president and his loyal staff, George Burkitt, vice president; Juanita Long, secretary; and Willard Bodine, treasurer, the club completed one of its most successful years.

As usual the Opera Club made its contribution to the assembly programs when called upon and again participated in the annual all school presentation of the "Messiah."

Each year Central high school bids au revoir to a group of seniors who will look back on the Opera Club training in music and music appreciation as one of the highlights of their school days.

The most important event of the Opera Club this year was the presentation of Sigmund Romberg's comic operetta, "My Maryland," with June Arnold as Barbara Frietchie; Bob Hampton as Captain Trumbull, her lover; Stanley Galloway as the comedian, Zeke Bramble; Alyce Reed as Sally; Bob MacDowell as Edgar Strong; Willard Bodine as Jack Negley; Pat Gladson as Sue Royce; Vivian Curry as Laura Royce; and Bruce Bollinger as Colonel Negley. Jimmy Carstarphen and Joe Rhodes portrayed Barbara's father and brother. George Burkitt was Dr. Hal Boyd; Harriet Hyman, Mrs. Hunter; and Marilyn Hitch, Mammy Lou. Other major roles were played by Bob Tinius, Gene Cox, Bob Grieves, and Jam Reynolds.

"My Maryland" is based on a play by Clyde Fitch, and the setting is in Fredrickstown, Maryland, during the Civil War. The operetta tells the story of a southern girl who falls in love with a northern soldier. Fredrickstown is captured and recaptured during the operetta, and Barbara's friends turn against her, but the story ends happily and love triumphs.

The Opera Club members will long remember the enjoyment they had while preparing and presenting the successful climax of the year's activities, "My Maryland."

Ann Jarrett, Queen of the Band

Under the direction of Mr. Clarence Gates the band plays stirring music that helps lead our teams to victory at the football and basketball games. The musicians march in parades, take an active part in civic affairs, play for pep assemblies, and give formal concerts. This year the band has one hundred members and has lived up to the high reputation deservedly established by this organization in former years.

Like many other clothes nowadays the band uniforms are on their last legs, so to speak. Therefore the P-T. A. started a fund for new red uniforms. In order to have them made and ready to wear next fall the board of directors of the activity fund advanced money for this purpose. One hundred uniforms are being purchased at a cost of $52.20 each.

Ann Jarrett was chosen to reign over the band with Franque Mattoon and Betty Jo Ingram as her attendants. Ann is the third band queen at Central, and was crowned by John Tipton at the Central-Webster football game. The first two band queens at Central High School were Virginia Teale, elected in 1943, and Rosemary Jones, elected in 1944.

David Yates puts his instrument into the luggage compartment in preparation for the band's trip to the Muskogee-Central football game.

Camarata

The Camarata Club has completed its thirteenth year as one of the school's outstanding organizations. The members, junior and senior girls, join this service organization to do all in their power to make Central Tulsa's most efficient high school, and to promote interest in social welfare.

Alice Bruner and Jo Francis Fulcher wait to show the "playgoers" to their seats

At each school function, a stranger, looking lost as he enters the auditorium, is pleasantly surprised by a question, "May I help you find your seat?" spoken by an attractive Camarata, neatly attired in blue skirt and white sweater. Once again this year, the Camaratas aided the Salvation Army by selling copies of the War Cry at Christmas time.

Mary Witcher, the club's pretty prexy, calls the meeting to order every other Wednesday morning. Diligently checking the roll is Barbara Lowe, while Virginia Smith tries faithfully to collect money from the members for various projects.

Believing that all work and no play makes life rather dull, the Camaratas have some delightful parties each year.

Under the excellent guidance of Miss Esther Larson, the Camarata Club has completed another successful year of service to the school.

Lettermen

The Lettermen's club, sponsored by Mr. Grady Skillern, director of boy's physical education, is open to all boys who have won their letters in any sport offered the sixth hour. After winning a "T", and being voted on by other members, the boy automatically becomes a member of the club. Managers are also eligible for membership if voted a letter by the other lettermen of the respective teams.

The club meets on the second and the fourth Thursday of each month. Charles Dowell, president, calls the meeting to order, and in his absence Jack Wamsley takes over. R. C. Slocum has the responsibility of taking attendance, of getting members to come to meetings, and of seeing that they are on time.

Meetings have programs of various types, sometimes an outside speaker or perhaps entertainment furnished by students. At some time during the year a social event, often a picnic, takes place. The boys also discuss school topics, usually led by Ray Burns and Glenn Dille, senators.

The men of might and muscle listen intently at the regular meeting of the Lettermen

The club enables lettermen of the various sports to get together and know one another better. It also promotes good sportsmanship, school spirit, and loyalty.

Red Feathers

Under the able leadership of Miss Ruth Draper and Miss Elizabeth Lomax, the Red Feathers have had an outstanding year.

At meetings held on Thursday mornings during homeroom, the officers, Tulu Kirkpatrick, president; Rosanne Matofsky, vice president; Jeanne Vinson, secretary; Ann Jarrett, treasurer; and senators, Johnnie Farmer and Pat Dickenson, lead discussions on business of the moment. After business has been settled, cheerleaders Franque Matoon, senior; Marjorie and Marianne Blackburn, juniors; Jean Rhodes and Ann Hasty, sophomores, lead the members in yells and songs. This exciting activity prepares the girls to give better and louder cheers to spur the teams to victory.

It's Thursday morning and there's a Red Feather meeting

This year a new system promoted game and meeting attendance. The twenty-eight squads held a contest. Points were given for sportsmanship, conduct at games, attendance at games and meetings, participation in selling stickers, megaphones, and pins. Pictures of the three winning squads appear on page 151.

For the past few years the football queen has been a Red Feather. This year not only the football queen but also the whole court, together with the band queen and her attendants, were Red Feathers.

Besides donning their red skirts and white sweaters for all home games and the coronation assembly, the Red Feathers took part in the victory loan parade, and to top the season, chartered two buses for a trip to the Muskogee-Central football game.

The Tulsa Historical Society

Now in its ninth year under the sponsorship of Mrs. Louise M. Whitham, The Tulsa Historical Society of Central High School announced this year the completion of its Five-Year Project: research concerning the Civil War battles fought in Tulsa County and marking the known graves by a suitable memorial. An informational shaft, placed in Mohawk Park, was dedicated on April 15, 1945.

Publication of the research findings, and landscaping around the monuments was done December 9, 1945, the eighty-fourth anniversary of the battle of Bird Creek.

The slogan, "Know Tulsa," has taken this year's group on several tours, notably to the Gilcrease Foundation and to the city and county government buildings. It also brought back Lieutenant Clinton Riggs, a 1929 graduate of Central, now Inspector Riggs of the Tulsa Police force, to talk about crime prevention. This talk was followed by a visit to the city jail.

Sales of the Tulsa historical postcards continue so that a fund may be built up for a new project. Officers of the 1945-1946 society are Ted Glass, president; Clayton Broach, vice-president; Phyllis Johnson, secretary; Jack Martin, treasurer; Ed Tomlins and Bob Pullen, senators.

Scalpers

Members of the Scalpers, boys' pep organization, are distinguished by their bright red jackets with SCALPERS written in white across the back and their names over the two front pockets. When a boy has earned the required number of points, he may also wear a tomahawk or an Indian Chief's head as an emblem on his shirt. Boys earn points by cheering at football and basketball games, ushering at plays and the Daze, and performing other services for their school.

This group of happy Scalpers is on the way to Muskogee for the football game

In cooperation with the Red Feathers, the Scalpers sold megaphones, Central stickers, and pins with "Yea, Central" on them in order to pay for their emblems and their Tom Tom pictures.

Mr. John A. Venable and Mr. H. E. McPhail sponsor the club, while the officers are Harold Fisher, president; Jake Branstetter, vice president; Edward Dumit, secretary; Jerry Sherman, treasurer; David Barnes, senior senator; and Wayne Flippo, junior senator.

Cheerleaders, who urge the boys to yell louder, are James Woodward, all school cheerleader; Jack Anglin, Herbert Bell, Bill Eagle, assistants; and Wayne Burk, Jack Trader, Robert Stein, sophomore cheerleaders.

Speakers' Bureau

The Speakers' Bureau, one of the oldest organizations at Central, meets on Mondays and Tuesdays of every other week under the sponsorship of Miss Alphild Larson.

Requirements for membership are the same as those for major offices, but the applicant must also secure a recommendation from his English teacher, and have a successful trial in impromptu speaking before the cabinet and membership of the Bureau.

Members of the Speakers' Bureau relax after the meeting by playing a fast game of bingo. Ted Glass and Shirley Hilmer try their luck at the first table

The function of the Speakers' Bureau is to serve the school and community in a speaking capacity whenever the need or demand arises, and to develop power, technique, poise, and efficiency in platform speaking.

This year's capable officers were president, Don Cole; vice president, Ted Glass; recording secretary, Barbara Smith; corresponding secretary, Tulu Kirkpatrick; treasurer, Jack Wamsley; and senators, Tom Wood and Barbara Lowe.

The Bureau has participated in many types of programs: members gave speeches in support of the Junior Red Cross and the Community Chest, led assemblies and gave the devotions, participated in skits, plays and discussions given in assemblies, and of course participated in the Daze. Besides taking part in these school activities the Bureau members spoke at many civic club dinners, introducing outstanding men or special speakers. This year has truly been an outstanding one for the Speakers' Bureau.

Advertising Board

Under the sponsorship of Mr. R. C. Reynolds, the Advertising Board plays an important part in high school life.

The busy and energetic members direct the advertising for school plays, the opera, the Daze, the annual P.-T.A. membership drive, and the Activity Budget sales.

Every Monday morning, at eight-fifteen, the president of the hard-working organization, Werner Renberg, calls the meeting to order. To take over, in his absence, is the vice president, Bob Worley. The other officers are Claudia White, secretary; Betty Loranger, treasurer; Mary Halladay, senior senator; and Gerald Adamson, junior senator.

The membership is divided into several committees to handle the different sales campaigns and other business projects throughout the year.

But in spite of all these activities, the members find time for fun as those members who attended a weiner roast and a Christmas caroling party will testify.

A committee from the Advertising Board works on a new constitution

Not only does the Advertising Board provide the means for promoting and publicizing Central's activities, but it also gives its members business training which may be valuable to them in the future.

ALPHA KEYSTONERS, GROUP ONE

Alpha Keystoners

Every Monday night the Alpha Keystoners gather at the Y.M.C.A. When the members hear Phyllis Johnson banging the gavel, they stop their chattering for a few minutes while Peggy McCrary calls the roll and reads the minutes of the last meeting. Treasurer Pat Warren announces the financial status of the club, after which social chairman, Helen Chancey, may tell the girls the plans for a coming party, such as the sock hop they had this year, or another member may bring up other business.

The morning after finds Alpha members reviewing last night's meeting

If a member thinks of something interesting to tell her friend, then Carol Larkin, sergeant-at-arms, is there to ask for order. If a member is absent, the calling chairman, Helen Davis, explains why.

As their chief project this year, Alpha members chose to provide some dolls for child patients at Hillcrest Hospital to play with during their hospitalization. Nancy Burtt, chairman of the project committee, had charge of the selection of the dolls. The club also made a contribution to the Community Fund.

Alpha Keystoners

After the business meeting the girls enjoy an interesting program, planned by program chairman Mary Lou Brite. The programs may consist of speakers, like Walter Eastman who spoke on his newspaper, The Serviceman, or of various other forms of entertainment. Following the program, members who wish to do so may remain and dance for awhile with Hi-Y members.

Miss Ailene Wood, sponsor of all the Keystoner Clubs, is too busy to give much individual help to Alphas, but Miss Charlene Millikan, sponsor of Alpha Keystoners, is on hand whenever the girls have something to talk over with her. She helps them plan their parties and aids them in their projects.

Alpha members are recognized everywhere for their character, high ideals, and friendliness. They indeed live up to the Hi-Y-Keystoner Creed: "The purpose of Hi-Y and Keystoner Clubs is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

ALPHA KEYSTONERS, GROUP TWO

BETA KEYSTONERS, GROUP ONE

Beta Keystoners

At 7:30 every Tuesday night the Y.W. C.A. is host to a lively group of girls known as Beta Keystoners. Kathleen Burton calls the meeting to order while Secretary Marilyn Marshall makes a few additions to last week's minutes. Treasurer Elaine Cooper finds no trouble at all in balancing the books, for Beta conducted a successful pay-your-dues contest. Other members of the cabinet are Earlene Brown, vice president; JoAnn Dobson, program manager; Lois Enoch, social chairman; and Juanita Long and Charlotte Consolvo, junior and senior senators respectively.

Five members of Beta's mighty eleven go over the latest football tactics

The club is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Kathleen Patton of the Y. M. C. A. staff. Beta's social calendar is always filled. Among the year's activities were a picnic at Shell Creek, a skating party, and the annual style show and mother's tea. As a forfeit for losing the powder-puff football game, Beta gave the Delta Keystoners a hayride.

Beta Keystoners

Betas represented in run-the-city-day were Charlotte Consolvo and Betty Zoe Wilhelm. Betty Jo Hill was secretary to the water commissioner, Norma Eskridge.

At each meeting a guest speaker or some member presents a program. Among this year's speakers were Dr. L. S. McLeod who spoke on hypnotism and Dr. B. D. Barclay who showed the members slides on Colorado. Several panel discussions were held on dating and various other subjects.

The meetings are always closed with the friendship circle creed, "Let us strive to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." After meetings the members meet with the other Hi-Y and Keystoner clubs for a short session of dancing and comparing notes on their activities.

Beta cabinet members look the situation over.

BETA KEYSTONERS, GROUP TWO

Delta Keystoners

Every Tuesday evening at 7:30, President Norma Eskridge calls the meeting of the Delta Keystoners to order. Secretary Anna Belle Hales reads the minutes, and Beverly Huddleston makes her treasurer's report. Billie Bivans leads the devotions. After termination of the business meeting, the girls enjoy one of their interesting programs, planned by Pat Jennings. Other officers are vice president, Betty Morris; senior senator, Jean Shoemaker; junior senator, Pat Davison; and social chairman, Mary Wilson.

Delta's program entertains the members.

This year, Delta's chief project was to buy phonograph records and distribute them among the servicemen in veterans' hospitals.

Delta challenged Beta Keystoners to their annual game of powder-puff football. Under the coaching of Leonard Nightingale and Captain Donna Watson, the Delta team fought their way to victory in a 21-0 game. Beta paid with a super fine hayride. Besides parties, the girls enjoyed the annual Sadie Hawkins' Day hayride, the spring carnival, and a picnic at Shell Creek for new members.

Combining fun with fellowship has provided a worth-while year for Delta Keystoners, one that will long remain a pleasant memory.

Junior - Senior Hi-Y

That Tuesday evening rumble at the Y.M.C.A. is not an earthquake, but Leonard Nightingale, gavel-swinging president of the Junior-Senior Hi-Y, bringing order to the weekly meeting of that worthy organization. After peace and quiet have been duly established, Secretary Dan White, Treasurer Bob Benzel, and Senior Senator Jack Larrabee present their customary reports, except on such rare occasions as the night of the tragedy in the treasury when a much dismayed Bob reported the disappearance of all account books. He immediately learned, to his surprise, that each and every member had paid his dues in full. Vice President Roy Miller plans activities for the organization and has been able to obtain many interesting speakers, not the least of whom were Coach William Lantz and Mr. Sid Cockrell.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Paul Percival, this organization has had a successful and enjoyable year of activities, including a hayride for members and their dates, and a ranch party at Shell Creek with their sister club, Delta Keystoners.

Another activity was the ever - popular run-the-city-for-a-day. Leonard Nightingale was elected mayor; Charles Owen, fire and police commissioner; Jack Larrabee, police chief.

Leonard Nightingale, mayor - for - a - day, takes his duties seriously.

The boys feel their time at meetings has been well spent, because through this organization they have attained a better understanding of the true meaning of comradeship and good fellowship.

TRIANGLE HI-Y

Triangle Hi-Y

On Tuesday nights the noise emitted from the Y.M.C.A. can be heard for at least three blocks around. Reason: Triangle Hi-Y is in session. Jake Branstetter, president, and George Croston, sergeant-at-arms, keep the club in order. Allen Smith reads the minutes of the last meeting and Jerry Weinberg finds keeping the money of the organization as hard as collecting it, for these active boys are always planning parties of some sort. Bob Reichard has done a wonderful job of bringing back the news from the Senate, even if his reports do sometimes start a friendly debate about school politics.

Max Ernest holds the attention of Jake Branstetter and John Brickner with his plans for a new kind of ranch party.

But these boys have their serious moments, too. Both at Thanksgiving and Christmas they dug deep into their pockets and produced enough to buy baskets and baskets of food for the needy.

Their ranch parties are known for fun and gay times. Trucks are packed with the Triangles and their dates, and the fireside is crowded.

Mr. Sid Cockrell, sponsor of the Hi-Y organizations, is kept busy with the varying programs of this outstanding club.

Sigma Hi-Y

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Fred Shelburn, Sigma Hi-Y has completed another year filled with fun and good fellowship. John Tipton, the president, has done a remarkable job, while Charlie Parker has executed his duties as vice president and social chairman successfully. Bob Ragland was kept busy taking notes at the meetings, and George Burkitt had charge of the financial situation. George Thompson and Ed Beadle attended all the Senate meetings and Donald Rowley had charge of the devotionals.

At Thanksgiving and Christmas the members furnished the Tulsa Boys' Home with a turkey for the holiday dinner and also presented an entertaining program at the home.

Sigma's programs have been both entertaining and educational this year. One of the speakers was Mr. Don Walton, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who talked on "The Growing Ways of Manhood." In a joint meeting with Sigma's sister club, Alpha Keystoners, Mr. Walter Eastman, publisher of The Serviceman, was the guest speaker.

Ranch parties and dances have been prominent on Sigma's list of social activities. One of the most successful parties was the Parent-Son banquet. Taking all things into consideration, Sigma has had a most successful year which has greatly enriched the lives of its members.

Bob Ragland, Charles Parker, and Joe Reeves seem happy over their completed plans for a Sigma party.

Decem Keystoners

This year a new Keystoner club, Decem, came into existence in order that Central sophomores might participate in the varied activities carried on by the "Y" clubs of Tulsa.

Joan Stark, Anita Givens, and Joety Lindhorst scan the bulletin for news about Decem Keystoners.

The club started its first year off by electing as president Carolyn Duncan; vice president, Anita Givens; secretary, Bethel Hale; treasurer, Joan Stark; and senator, Martha Williams. Miss Betty Watkins is the sponsor.

Decem meetings are held at the Y.M.C.A. each Tuesday night at seven-thirty. During these meetings the members plan such social functions as hayrides, dances, picnics, and box suppers, as well as conducting regular business.

At least one project a semester is the goal set up by Decem members, and during this year they took part in the combined "Y" clubs' membership drive and the March of Dimes drive. Their main project was raising money to help pay for the public announcing system for the Y.M.C.A. In order to do this they gave a highly successful pie supper.

Thus the first year of Decem's existence proved the worth of the club.

This year marks the beginning of the fourth Y.M.C.A.-Central boys' club. The Sophomore Hi-Y, official name, was formed at the same time as the companion Decem Keystoners. There is now a "Y" club available to every student at Central who wishes to enjoy the good fellowship found in these organizations.

Every Tuesday night at seven-thirty Jack Pinion, president of the group, calls the meeting to order. After vice president, Floyd Gray; secretary, Don Gregory; and treasurer, Richard Eskridge, have finished their business, the meeting turns into a social hour.

This first year has been filled with fun and worthwhile activities. The club showed true Christmas spirit by giving a basket filled with food to a needy family. Joint meetings with Decem Keystoners bring evenings of pleasure which none of the members wishes to miss. One of the highlights of the year was the weekend camping trip at Shell Creek.

Aided by the sponsor, Mr. John Sibole, they have assured themselves a definite place in the list of Central organizations.

Bob Vickers, Bill Robinson, and James McCoy hurry through their homework so so they can attend Sophomore-Hi-Y meeting.

International Club

Wide-awake Central High School students get a clear picture of the world situation through their activities in the International Club, sponsored by Miss Sara Coleman.

Officers of the organization this year are president, Richard Fowler; vice president, La Verne Morse; secretary, June Gallowoy; treasurer, Robert Kaufman; and senators, Eleanor Mauzy and Dorothy Allen.

Mrs. Bertha C. Robertson speaks to the International Club about her experiences in Africa.

Included in the programs of the weekly meetings have been guest speakers experienced in foreign travel and study. Outstanding among the speakers were Miss Ruth Gifford, Latin-American history and Spanish teacher, who showed her collection of Mexican art; Mr. Homer Ledbetter, returned service man, who related some of his experiences with the army in Europe; and Mrs. Bertha C. Robertson, who told of her life and work in northern Africa where she and her husband served for many years as medical missionaries.

As a special project the International Club sponsored the sale of tickets to the Tulsa Classroom Teachers' Association lecture course. The club later held forum discussions based on studies of the famous speakers appearing on the lecture programs.

By learning about foreign affairs today these students are becoming better qualified to take their places in the world government of tomorrow.

Stagecraft Club

Stage struck? No, not unless scenery man John Tipton or his assistants let a rope slip. These hard working lads and lassies are the unseen, unsung offstage talent of Central's stage and screen.

The executive officers are President Glynn Hays, Secretary Barbara Burkhart and Treasurer Lilburn Valentine, aided and abetted by John Tipton, scenery manager, Ted Sullivan, property manager, and Bill Hawman, electrical manager.

Stagecraft Club members collaborated on their biggest work-play fest at Hallowe'en. At this annual party the Ghost Walk was a planned masterpiece of the uncanny that would have sent any skeleton scurrying to his closet scared stiff.

Duties of the Stagecraft Club members include designing, building, and painting special scenery for Central's stage productions, assemblies, plays, operas, and the Daze. Members act as projectionists for special occasions, lectures, and assemblies, and keep all stage equipment in order, under the guidance of Mr. Albert Martin.

Those remarkable lighting effects don't just happen. President Glynn Hays of the Stagecraft Club operates the switch board behind scenes.

Regular meetings are held every Monday afternoon, but work goes on almost incessantly as, rain or shine, "the show must go on."

DISTRIBUTORS' CLUB

Distributors' Club

The Distributors' Club is an organization of vocational students enrolled in cooperative part-time distributive education classes. Its purpose is to further the welfare of its members by providing for the exploration of opportunities in the field of distribution, and to benefit society in general by developing a feeling of civic, social, and moral responsibility in the nation's future business leaders.

Sharna Newman, member of the Distributors Club, makes a sale while working on her part-time job.

Regular meetings are held semi-monthly, and one of the two is always a dinner meeting with a planned program relative to distributive work. Projects for the year included merchandise displays by individual club members, a store set-up, conducted entirely by club members, and spring fashion show for parents and store sponsors. Each year at Christmas the club holds an annual dinner and gift exchange. The gifts and tree are given to needy children.

Sponsors of the club are Mrs. Loucillah Kirkpatrick and Miss Alice Young. The officers are president, Hazel Cagle; vice president, Richard Drake; secretary, Jean Hall; treasurer, Margaret Hall; junior senator, Walter Banfield; senior senator, Betty Jane Starling; and editor, Mahonna Stone.

Trade and Industrial Club

Last December, the Trade and Industrial Club of Central received its charter from the State Trade and Industrial Club, an organization sponsored by the State Department of Trade and Industrial Education.

The members of the club are boys who go to school a half day and work a half day. They are enrolled in the Cooperative Diversified Occupation Program, which sees that work and school do not interfere with each other, but help each other.

Mr. R. V. Lulow, related instructor, and Mr. M. J. Ruley, coordinator, work with the boys to help them plan activities and learn more about their jobs.

The club meets every Friday morning during one of their class periods. The time allowed for meetings passes swiftly when the boys start making plans for their numerous activities. They not only participate in local club activities, but they have state conventions, sponsor an employer-employee banquet each year, and publish their own newspaper, the TIC News, which is sent to alumni and employers of the members.

Bob Coates, working as a dental technician, makes false teeth for someone.

The boys will not easily forget the enjoyment and profit they get out of the Trade and Industrial Club.

W. Pearson, sponsor.

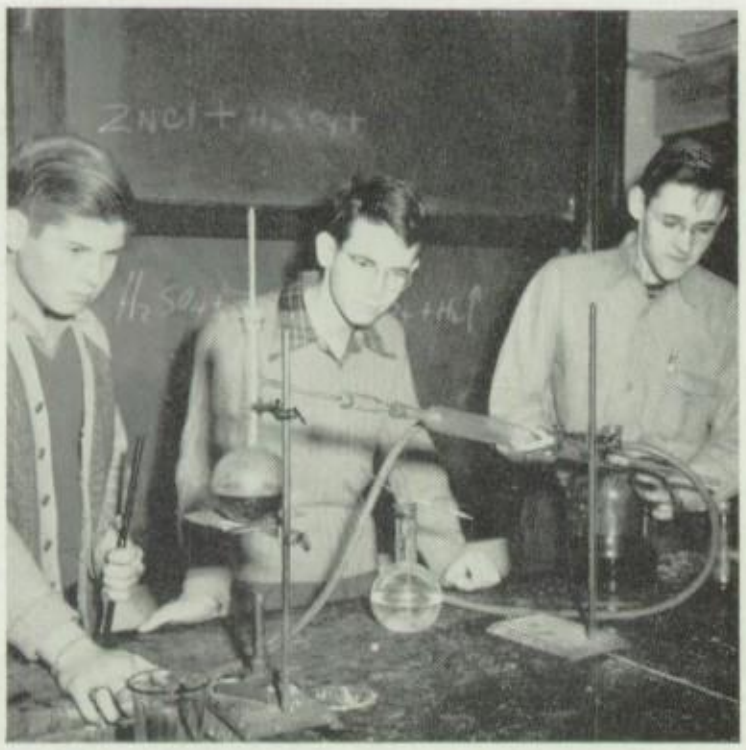
Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club offers the answer to those students whose eyes bug out with curiosity when they see test tubes and an assortment of chemicals in the laboratory.

The club meets on alternate Thursdays after school under the helpful guidance of Mr. George Pearson, its sponsor. Anyone who is interested in chemistry may join.



Jim Higgins, Bob Alexander, and George Thompson, members of the Chemistry Club, watch closely to see that nothing goes wrong with the distilling process.

At a typical meeting Gordon Carlson is pounding on the desk for order while Loren Kahle tries desperately to decipher the minutes of the last meeting. After the reading of the minutes comes a plea from Shirley Orman, asking everyone to pay his dues. Next, senators Bob Alexander and Susie Mueller give their version of what took place in the last Senate meeting. Of course hardly a meeting goes by without some discussion about the atom bomb. From this point, meetings vary. Members sometimes perform unusual experiments in the school laboratory or at another time listen to a guest speaker, or perhaps take a trip to the laboratory of an oil company.

Highlighting this year's activities were the various social gatherings held throughout the year. One memorable occasion was the trip to the Chouteau Powder Plant. Chemistry can be fascinating.

Medico Club

Organized in 1933 to satisfy the interest of students planning to enter the medical profession, the Medico Club has consistently shown a readiness to help wherever health is concerned. Throughout the years the club has assisted the Red Cross in many ways. Annually, the organization sponsors the March of Dimes and the sale of Christmas seals. Last year it sponsored the cancer fund.

Every Tuesday, the club meets for a short business session which precedes a program. Leroy Jones presides at meetings; Elaine Cooper checks the attendance; and Bobbie Ann Moore records the minutes. Miss Lucile Witte is the faculty adviser. Following the business meeting, the club sits back to enjoy a speaker on a medical subject or hurries off to visit a health center.

The members, many of them future doctors and nurses, enjoy making trips to the various medical supply centers and hospitals in and around Tulsa. Once each year they tour St. John's Hospital.

Each spring and fall the Medico Club puts aside its business and trundles happily off to Mohawk Park for a picnic.

Medico Club members, Elaine Cooper, Bob Worley, and Betty Cockrell, repair the break in Frankie's leg.

1. Queen Tulu's subjects find the gymnasium an appropriate place for a ball. 2. "Has anybody seen my mommy?" asks a lonely quadruped of the girls in Lost and Found: Marcia McClelland, Rosanne Matofsky, and Sheila Alexander. 3. Ernest Madrigal is all up in the air as he and Barbara Burkhart decorate the Christmas tree in the north hall. 4. If Robert Cochrane's speech is all wet, he can blame Dean Smith, as the campaign goes on to elect the water commissioner for run-the-city day. 5. School Life members solve the transportation problem the hard way! 6. Charles Lindsay holds the senior assembly spellbound by his reading of "The Ice Worm Cocktail." 7. Janice Castanien trips (not literally) on twinkling toes around the Christmas tree. 8. Marcia McClelland and Dorothy Price distribute School Life during the senior Christmas assembly. 9. Sandy Jones finds that "The Old Gray Mare ain't . . . "

1. Mrs. Frances W. Anderson, school organist, serenades the assembly.
2. "I believe in the United States of America . . ." The American's Creed is taken seriously by the general assembly.
3. As friendly rivals, Central and Rogers exchange their annual challenge for the big game.
4. Patti Cecil doubles for "Diddle Diddle Dumpling, my son John," with one shoe off and one shoe on.
5. Lieutenant Everett Athens tells us what it's like over there.
6. Ted Glass, as John Alden, looks dubious about speaking for himself in the Thanksgiving assembly.
7. Dr. John L. Davis, humorist par excellence, laughs with the audience.
8. Bill Gaser, a fiendish look in his eye, makes Charlie Parker pay with his hair because the Trimmers defeated the Clippers in the sale of senior class play tickets.
9. Patti Cecil, Joan Fenn, and Bonnie Simpson open their mouths, and melodious tones flow out.
10. Floyd Murphy promises to uphold the school standards as president of the sophomore class when Fred Berry, president of the Senate, swears him into office.

School Hymn

Words by
DOROTHY NAYLOR

Music by
DORIS ALLEN

O Great Spir-it, at thy call, We have pledged our youth,
Ev-er climb-ing, one and all, Seek e-ter-nal truth
With thy Stand-ards at our side, Bound by pur-pose high.
Thou Great Spir-it, be our guide Where the way may lie

With thy vision light our eyes,
Show thy heights above,
Grant us wisdom, thou art wise,
Teach us thy great love
Consecrate our aim sincere
Cleanse each inmost soul
O Great Spirit, be thou near Distant shines the goal

For the beauty through each day
Joy and friendship true
Gifts of thine along the way
Hear our thanks anew
When we gain the farthest height
By thy wisdom taught
We shall find thee, truth and light
Thou art all we sought

Dear Elanor,
I can't spel very well,
but I'll do my best, we have been pal's for a long time we have had lot's of fun together, and this is the last year
I sure hope you remember the good times we have had I know I will

Hi Honey
You know, I spent all my time trying to figure you out. I know it wasn't time wasted but it sure felt l Didn't get very far. I sure have had some great times with you and I still like you a great deal. I wish we could ha got along better. I come to the conclusion that you are just plain mean. but I kind of like it. You are have a gr Personality and look, you just got all it takes. I still ho to have a lots of dates with you this summer and just be w you. I don't know what it is but I still want to see you for more. You know, we are going to have lots of fun next year at dear me
Well I am just going to wish you all the joy and happiness in the world.

Dear Eleanor—
It's been swell having you as a classmate in History this year. Best of luck to a swell girl—
Robert Hale

Dear Eleanor,
well, I can't really decide what to say except this: I want to thank you for passing me on so many English tests, I want to thank you for such a sweet smile most of all. I want to thank you for being you.

— Alfred, Lord Tennyson in "Ulysses"

Dear Allen,
You and Phyl are the couple. If you weren't together, I think the ole school would have collapsed. Hope you always hit it off.

Dear Eleanor,
It's too bad that you were a senior this year because I would have liked to have a date with you which is nearly impossible. May the next Fellow have more luck!
Love,
Kenny Fowler

Dear Eleanor,
I know you'll never forget those slumber parties. They were fun and everything we've done has been a darling girl and I'm sure you'll always, somehow, get what you want. I'll never forget such a sweet gal as you. Hope we see the future.
Love,
Ellen Travis

Dear Eleanor,
There is none as beautiful as you. This has been yes with all the trimmings.

Dear Eleanor ——

Dolly, I hardly know what to say to you! We've had so darn much fun together this year discussing the world in general, and certain parts in particular. (Guess who!) I thought I knew you pretty well until this year, but little did I know! I'll never forget your love of jokes and your reactions to them! Really though Kiddo, I think you are a doll and I love you a lot! I wish you a lot of luck with a certain party! (Don't you love me!) BE good Kid,

Wando Sweatt
